

THE HUNGER GAMES

The Hunger Games is a series of four fantastic movies that were adapted from a trilogy written by Suzanne Collins, in 2008. All the movies talk about a dystopian future. The first one introduces the setting of the four movies, the main characters, and starts showing us the difficulties they face. In the movie, the capital, which is the richest district, chooses one male and one female to fight to death. And then, the survivor wins a wealthy life in the capital. Teachers can use this movie in class to promote discussion among their students about the theme, highlighting the meaning of dystopia.
